

Epilepsy and Depressive Disorders

An Epilepsy & Behavior conference

12-13 September 2010

The Westin Chicago River North Hotel, Chicago, USA

Exhibition and Sponsorship Packages

Promote your company to over 300 neuroscientists, epileptologists, neurologists, psychiatrists, psychologists, nurses, social workers and patients.

Depressive disorders and epilepsy are two conditions that are very closely related. Not surprisingly, depressive disorders are the most frequent psychiatric comorbidity in patients with epilepsy. The impact of depressive disorders is multidimensional, including an association with a worse response to pharmacologic and surgical treatment of the seizure disorder.

The purpose of this conference is to review in detail the various aspects of the close relationship between these two conditions, starting from an analysis of available neurobiologic data and including theoretical and practical applications of clinical and therapeutic implications.

We are pleased to offer a variety of sponsorship packages, each designed to provide you with a high visibility presence at this high quality event
